Focusing And Listening

There is a direct linkage among self-examination, meditation and prayer. Taken separately, these practices can bring much relief and benefit, (Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions, pg. 98)

If I do my self-examination first, then surely, I'll enough humility to pray and meditate--because I'll see and feel my need for them. Some wish to begin and end with prayer, leaving the self-examination and meditation to take place in between, whereas others start with meditation, listening for advice from God about their still hidden or unacknowledged defects. Still others engage in written and verbal work on their defects, ending with a prayer of praise and thanksgiving, These three--self-examination, meditation and prayer--form a circle, without a beginning or an end. No matter where, or how I start, I eventually arrive at my destination: a better life.

12 Tips for Sober Holidays 12 Tips for Sober Holidays

1. Line up extra AA activities (help on the phones, speak, empty the ashtrays).
2. Be host to friends, especially newcomers, at home or at a coffee shop.
3. Keep your AA telephone list with you at all times.
4. Find out about holiday meetings or celebrations in your local groups.
5. Skip any drinking occasions you're nervous about.
6. If there's one you can't skip, take an AA friend--or keep candy handy.
7. Don't think you have to stay late (plan an "important date" in advance).
8. Go to church. Any church. And don't forget about extra meetings.
9. Don't sit around brooding; catch up on reading, museums, walks, letters.
10. Don't project about holiday temptations: remember "One day at a time."
11. Even if you cannot give material gifts, enjoy the beauty of holiday love.
12. Carry the message. Give the joy away, and it will be yours to keep.
